

PRAYERS OF THE PEOPLE 02.15.26

Christ, our deliverer: Remind us that you wept, just as we do when we are hurt. We lift up all the members of this body enduring various stages of illness, in its many forms. Bind and heal the wounds of our bodies and minds. Mend hearts and relationships. Provide companionship for those among us who feel as though they walk alone. Revive and sustain those who are caring for loved ones as they confront burn out, fatigue, and grief.

We ask for your continued provision for Caitlyn Littrell and her family as they await her surgery in March as the next step in her battle with cancer. Cover their fears and uncertainties with your peace.

Father of mercies: Remind us that we will see your glory if we believe. We rejoice at the news that Mia Kackley's leukemia is officially in remission. Strengthen and encourage her and her family as they continue needed treatments, navigate a new routine with home health and recovery challenges.

Holy Spirit, our advocate: As a team of Antioch travelers visit the southern border next weekend, stoke within their hearts, your vision for the reconciliation of all things. Let them experience your truth as they seek out an intimate knowledge and perspective on faith, immigration, and borders. Give them wisdom and discernment in using their perspective upon their return to our community.

You revealed your glory and presence in your beloved Son, Jesus the Christ. In receiving our prayers, reveal the glory and presence of your Spirit alive in the world today, free us from all doubts, and empower us to act as a transfigured people.

Remove the stones that cover the mouths of our tombs. Call us out of the grave as you called Lazarus. Let our lives be a testament to your power.

Amen

Amen.
