Vision Leak

It has been a full year, and you are still here. You are still reading this newsletter, still attending Sunday service, still singing praises to the Lord, and you still call me Pastor. What a blessing it is to look back on the year and see all that God has done, is doing, and is getting ready to do.

I am truly thankful to our Lord, and to you all. I love being your Pastor and I love the people of this church. Michelle and I were talking about all the jobs I have had in the past. While each job had a piece that I enjoyed she reminded me how miserable I was in all my careers. It wasn't until I responded to God's call on my life that I began to feel the fulfillment in my work that I had been longing for. There is truly nothing I would rather be doing than this. Every day is not easy, nor is being a Pastor free of obstacles and problems. However, when I remember how I got here, and who I am working for (Jesus), then everything falls into its proper perspective.

I was looking back at my first sermon at WWCC on July 28th. The title was, "Celebrate, don't rest." I feel as if I could preach this same message again. This is the perspective we should all keep as we continue to grow together. We are where God wants us, for what God wants from us. We can celebrate joyfully because we are the Lord's workmanship, but we can't stop the kingdom work we were made to accomplish. Our work as a church will not end until Christ returns. We must strive to grow together for the glory of our Lord.

I pray for many years of Growing In, Growing Up, and Growing Out with all of you.

Member's Moments

As many of you know, I have been a fan of the Dallas Cowboys for many years. Many have asked why I chose the Cowboys, then I began to recognize the parallel between Christ and the Cowboys. West Waynesboro Church of Christ and sports teams (Dallas Cowboys) have more in common than what you think.

1. Both offer a sense of belonging and a shared identity. At WWCC we help individuals find community with others who share their faith.
2. Both sports and religion often require discipline and sacrifice. Athletes train hard and make sacrifices to improve, while religious individuals may dedicate time to prayer, fasting or other practices.
3. Learning from failure: Both sports and faith involve learning from setbacks and failures. Athletes learn from losses and individuals in faith, learn from mistakes and sin.
4. In sports, the goal is often winning. In church, the goal is often spiritual growth or serving others.
5. The most important part of myself is the opportunity to be a part of a team (AKA church). Everyone of us has different abilities.

In Nehemiah we are reminded of what can happen when individuals come together for one common cause, as he led the rebuilding of the broken walls around Jerusalem in just 52 days. Their unified effort brings divine power and world transforming moves of God to the earth. Imagine the possibilities of what God can do locally if we are unified as a team.
