

Transitions and Bridges

White Memorial finds itself in August of 2026 in a major season of transition. We are turning toward fall, and the summer-to-fall transition is a big one at White Memorial. Kickoff Sunday is September 13, and Sunday School, Youth Fellowship, and other programs, such as choirs for all ages, get underway. It's about to be really busy – in the best possible ways with songs, worship, prayer, laughter, and friendship echoing through our hallways and filling our sidewalks with joy.

As we enter this new season, our worship and programs will be shaped by the theme Deeply Planted: Roots for Real Life. Drawing on texts like Psalm 1 and Colossians will help us to remember that, as a community of faith, we are at our best when our lives are deeply rooted in our faith in the Lord. A move into deeper, more rooted faith is the healthiest single thing for our souls.

Our sanctuary project moves on. Great progress continues to be made. As I write, the ceiling has been patched and painted, and the trim and paneling are being primed in preparation for painting. Workers are throughout the Sanctuary complex, inside and out. The life safety measures in our children's spaces are also moving right along, aiming to be finished in time for Weekday School and Kickoff Sunday.

We are also in a time of staff transitions. Lee Hunter ended her Pastoral Residency, and this month Alli Buikema Cooper will begin hers. Earlier this summer, Jody Grayson retired from our finance office, and two wonderful people joined us there, Yolanda Childress and Jasmine Downs. We also welcomed a new Associate Director of Music to our staff this summer, Katrina Liao. In May, Jennifer Eastman stepped down as our Director of Young Children's Ministry, and this month Tracey Daniel—whom many of you may remember from her time here as one of our pastors—will begin serving in that role. We also say goodbye to Paige Hokunson as she leaves our Youth staff to pursue a full-time master's degree.

All this leads me to bridges. Bridges are, by definition, places of transition: from one side of the river to the other; from one side of the ravine to the other; across the lake to the other side and another shore. At White Memorial, our Connector bridge is itself in a season of transition. We are working hard to develop an affordable plan to repair it for future use. It will be a few more months before we complete it. In the meantime, you will see fencing around the scaffolding in the courtyard, and we ask that everyone avoid it as you enter and exit through the courtyard.

Transitions abound in our individual lives and in our congregational life. May God bless us as we journey through this exciting season together. May the Spirit lead the way as we follow Jesus into the future with roots planted deeply in God's love and grace.

May grace abound,

Christopher Edmonston, Pastor
