Message Summary

This message uses the process of baking scones to illustrate how God develops us through “Sift, Shift, and Lift.” Just as flour is sifted to remove impurities, God allows seasons of testing to refine our character, strengthen our faith, and prepare us for greater purpose. Joseph’s journey from the pit to the palace shows that God is working even in hardship and delay (Genesis 37:28; Genesis 39:20-21). The message reminds us not to resist God’s process, because the sifting prepares us for the shifting into new seasons and divine positioning (Jeremiah 29:11). Like Joseph’s sudden promotion to leadership in Egypt, God can bring breakthrough at the right time (Genesis 41:39-41). Finally, we are called to “lift” one another through healthy relationships, encouragement, and unity, just as scones rise best together (Genesis 45:7-10). Trust God’s process and don’t quit before the promise.

QUESTIONS TO THINK ABOUT AND PRAY ABOUT

1. What is God sifting right now?
2. What is God sifting in me?
3. Who is God calling me to lift up now?
