Oct 14, 2014 ABC NEWS "Ebola survivor Dr. Kent Brantly has donated the plasma in his blood to three patients in the last month, echoing what one of his former patients did for him before he left Liberia."

Dr. Brantley went over with the organization "Samaritans Purse" and was working with those who had been quarantined with the virus. He became ill with the virus ... was given a transfusion from a 14 year old boy who had overcome the virus before he was shipped back to the states. He overcame the virus as well!

Dr William Schaffner "...an Ebola survivor's blood can be imported into struggling Ebola patient's body, those antibodies can theoretically help the patient's immune system fight off the deadly virus. What those antibodies do is bind to the virus. They find the virus and bind to it and prevent it from multiplying further."

"Here's how it works: When confronted with a virus, the immune system creates antibodies to specifically target that virus, kill it and keep it from coming back, he said. Once a person has antibodies, they stay in their blood for life."

Arizona State University School of Life Sciences Ask A Biologist:

"Towards the end of each battle to stop an infection, some T-cells and B-cells turn into Memory T-cells and Memory B-cells. As you would expect from their name, these cells remember the virus or bacteria they just fought.

These cells live in the body for a long time, even after all the viruses from the first infection have been destroyed. They stay in the ready-mode to quickly recognize and attack any returning virus or bacteria."

Colossians 1:20-22 "...having made peace through the blood of His cross. And you, who once were alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now He has reconciled in the body of His flesh through death, to present you holy, and blameless, and above reproach in His sight..."

Hebrews 10:2, 10, 18 "For the worshipers, once purified, would have had no more consciousness of sins ... For by one offering He has perfected forever those who are being sanctified ... Now where there is remission of these, there is no longer an offering for sin."

Cheryl Thomas “I love that the word says that the blood speaks. It says, ‘...the sprinkled blood of Jesus speaks a better word than the blood of Abel.’ (Hebrews 12:24) It always speaks. The word doesn’t say it spoke and done, but it speaks. It remains a plea on the mercy...”

“...seat in heaven with God and it’s a testimony to us. The blood has a voice. It is the voice of a new system, a new covenant, a new dispensation. Abels blood cries out for vengeance and Christ’s blood speaks of pardon.”
