Held the Whole Way Home

Some days feel heavy with questions,
and the road ahead looks unclear.
We carry concerns in quiet hearts
and wonder how strength will appear.

Yet God is present in the unseen,
working through moments we overlook.
He steadies trembling hands
and writes new chapters we never would.

Faith grows in ordinary places—
in simple prayers,
in small acts of kindness,
in choosing trust when fear feels near.

The Lord wastes nothing we endure.
He shapes endurance through trials
and plants hope where worry once lived.

So we move forward with confidence,
believing His promises still stand.
The same God who guides our steps today
is preparing joy beyond what we see.

And when the path finally opens wide,
we will find He carried us
the whole way home.
