Union United Methodist Church, Belleville, IL

June 5, 2025

Pastor's Note: I asked Natalie Long to write an article for Tidings about our garden, Bags of Bounty. I was so moved by her "invitation" that I decided it needed a front page location. Her invitation is extended to us all to join in the work of the garden. She reminds us that by tending and stewarding Creation in this way, (and through other ministries I would add), we grow in love for our Creator and are privileged to join in His work of redemption here on earth.

In Christ alone,
Pastor Allynn

The Grace of a Garden: An Invitation
Natalie Long

There are many reasons to care for a garden. The harvest is one of them; who could find fault with caring for a plant and being rewarded with fresh strawberries in spring or a ripe tomato come late summer? Fellowship is another; even if a garden is a one-man project, the joy of sharing the fruits of one's labor creates moments of shared gratitude: for the earth, for the munificent generosity of the sunshine and the rain, for the fertility of the soil, for the astounding fact that life exists, for friendship, for love.

But as Christians, we have an additional reason—one both simple and profound—for undertaking this adventure: namely, to grow closer to God.

The Lord reveals himself to us in many ways, some more explicit than others. Sometimes he reveals himself in a manner most direct ("This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased"); other times, in the depths of the silence of one's heart ("And after the fire, there was a voice, a soft whisper"). It is our task to do the listening, to attend to his presence, to create space for him to come to us in prayer, when all else within us stands still. The act of attention can be prayer.

For some of us, caring for a garden grants small moments of this grace-filled prayer, where we can attend to the presence of the Lord. Whether it is the first rays of sunlight casting out across the land, accompanied by the first voices of birdsong singing the day into being; the vibrant green of the plants, radiating life as they stretch toward the heavens; the sweet taste of a vine-ripened fruit, gently grasped and brought into the palm of one's hand; or the buzz of bees and the glint of butterfly wings flitting around from flower to flower; God's presence is felt through his Creation, through the world that he entrusted to man to cultivate and to tend.

Human experience shows us that in caring for something, we can come to love it; imperfectly, of course, for a human love always falls short of the ultimate love that only God can know, but with his help toward which we can strive. But in caring for the Creation, in stewarding and tending to it, we can come to love the Creation more deeply and—by extension—grow in our love for its Creator.

The great artists have always known that the quest for beauty is the quest for God; and it is in gazing upon the Creation that we are privileged to behold the masterpiece of the greatest artist, from whom all other beauty is derived. We come to know more about the source from which all life comes—from which we come—by virtue of studying what he deemed good to create. And in cultivating the land, we become, in our own small way, co-creators, privileged to cooperate with the Lord, caring for this earth as it sings its ongoing hymn of praise.

The garden is the scene where mighty encounters with the Lord occur, for it was in the cool of the evening in the Garden of Eden that our first parents walked with our Lord; and it was in the darkest night in the Garden of Gethsemane that Christ asked that he might be spared, while submitting himself wholly to his Father's will. It is in the garden that God has met us, and it is in the garden that we can meet him still.

And so, this is an invitation. Here at Union, we have our own small garden: eight grow bags, filled with greens and vegetables and flowers, whose harvest is shared amongst us and with others in the community. Our garden is a volunteer enterprise, and we would love for you to join us. We are still learning what our garden can become, but we are hopeful it can be something very good. Come help us grow: come garden with us; come pray with us; come join us as we tend to Creation together.

Dear Families and Friends of Union United Methodist Church,
Grace and peace to you all!

My name is Rev. Angie Lee. I am thrilled to introduce myself as your new pastor, beginning July 1, 2025. My first Sunday worship with you will be July 6, and I eagerly look forward to meeting each of you, learning your stories, and embarking together on this exciting new chapter.

If you join me in worship, you will quickly discover the scriptures that anchor my life, the core values shaping my leadership, and the vision and direction in which I hope to journey with you. My deepest priority is helping each of you grow deeper in your personal faith journey, discovering together how richly fulfilling a life rooted in Christ can be. To kick off our journey together, our July sermon series is titled "LIVING WITH INTENTION." Each week, we will explore practical, life-giving ways to intentionally embrace our faith:

- July 6: Living with Intention – Celebrating True Freedom through Christ's Strength; Scripture: Philippians 4:13 – "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."
- July 13: Living with Intention – Finding Hope in God's Faithfulness; Scripture: Lamentations 3:22-23 – "Because of the Lord's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness."
- July 20: Living with Intention – Honoring God through Self-Care; Scripture: Genesis 1:27 – "So God created mankind in his own image, in the image of God he created them; male and female he created them."
- July 27: Living with Intention – Deepening Our Discipleship; Scripture: Matthew 28:19-20 – "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations... teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you."

I warmly encourage you to come, bring a friend, and let's explore together how living intentionally can transform our daily lives, our community, and our walk with Christ.

With great joy and anticipation,
Pastor Angie Lee

Continuing the Journey What's Happening in Freeburg

On Mother's Day, we welcomed new members Gage and Brynn Lang, who went through the Confirmation process this spring. They are the children of Brian & Andie Lang.

We recently heard testimonies from Betty Parsons and Rob Sygman. It is always a joy to hear how God is working in someone's life!

At press time, our mission team is preparing to leave Sunday, June 1st for LaCenter, KY. Those going from Journey this year are Paul, Daniel, and Noah Oberneufemann. If you are reading this that week, say a prayer for the team.

Bill Campbell will be preaching June 15, June 22, and July 6 as Pastor Mike & Jenny Olson do some traveling. Please keep all of them in your prayers. We are not having Bible Study in the month of June due to the mission trip and travels.

I am grateful for the additional musicians who fill in when our regulars aren't available. Kent Reynolds is the college student son of Jenny & Mike Olson and plays drums. Rich Greason plays bass part time for Scott Campus of Christ Church but has some free Sundays that he can play bass for us.

Dollars and Sense News (part 4)

This is part 4 of our series detailing how the financial management system works at Union UMC. In parts 1, 2 and 3 we discussed how the annual budget is built, how the execution of the budget takes place, and how cash is held. This month we will provide a look at other reports used to manage church finances.

1. What additional reports or documents do you use to manage finances? The cash statements for both Union and Journey are roll up reports that show actual cash on hand compared to the first of the year. The report shows cash coming in and out to specific accounts and expenses. The report also shows the mortgage balances.

2. Where are items like memorial funds shown? Memorial funds are shown on the Holding Account report. As funds come in for memorials they are accumulated under the name of the person being honored. The family can then have an input as to where the funds are used for a six-month period. The final approval for those funds during that period is governed by the Administrative Council. After six months funds are applied to items as needed.

3. Do we know how the endowment funds are invested? Yes. There are monthly reports that show what types of instruments are used to grow endowments. The Rayhill trust documents show what funds are invested in, but we do not have a say in what those are. The other endowment accounts are invested in balanced funds and can be moved at the request of the Finance Committee and Administrative Council.

4. Do we know if members intend to leave a legacy gift to the church? In some cases we do. In others we do not. This year we are asking members to let the Senior Pastor or Comptroller know if they intend to leave such a gift. It is not necessary to spell out the amount but just that the family intends to do it. Also, this intent is not binding, it is just an indicator of what might happen, so the church is not surprised by these gifts.

5. Are there safeguards in the financial system? Absolutely. Financial transactions are crosschecked by the Comptroller and Treasurer as they happen. Then the Finance Committee reviews transactions monthly. Then the reports are reviewed every time they meet. Some of this is required by the Book of Discipline and additional procedures are required by local management.

Well, that's about it for now. We hope this series has helped you understand how the financial management system works. Remember, if you have finance management questions please ask the Treasurer, Dick Frette; the Finance Committee Chairman, Mike Engel; or any of the Finance Committee members.

SLEEP IN HEAVENLY PEACE

The Evangelism Committee is raising money to build 50 beds for the Metro East Chapter of Sleep in Heavenly Peace. Each bed costs $250.00 to construct and furnish with sheets, blankets and pillows.

Girl Scouts Donate Rain Barrel to Support Union Methodist Church and the Community Garden

The Girl Scouts of Troops 40,1107,763 recently made a eco-friendly contribution to our church by donating a beautifully decorated rain barrel for use in our church community garden. This supports both our church's commitment to environmental stewardship and our mission to care for creation.

Through this project, the Girl Scouts learned about water conservation and sustainable gardening practices, then acted by providing a practical solution to help collect rainwater for the garden. The rain barrel will reduce water waste and help nourish the fruits, vegetables, and flowers grown by volunteers and families in our church and neighborhood.

Thank You, Joy and Friends!

Joy Hawk and her friends at Keystone Place Senior Living, under the direction of Activity Director Kim, donated items and bagged over 50 hygiene kits for those who come for our sack lunches and food pantry.

Visitation and Other Good Stuff with Dr. Joe Scheets

June

We need to be energetically at work...working while the sun shines. When night falls, the workday is over.

*Watch your step. Use your head.
Make the most of every chance you get.
These are desperate times!*

Those lines sure do sound like people who are part of Belleville Union United Methodist Church.

It's true that we United Methodists haven't cornered the market on being "Can Do" people who get things "Done Before Breakfast." And yet....

Maybe those even sound like something you've said. Or better yet: maybe these sound like how you live your life.

You probably recognized those quotes as coming from the same source. If not, here's a hint, in the form of one more ---

*This is the day the Lord has made;
we will rejoice and be glad in it.*

---Yup, that's Psalm 118:24.

They're all three from our Bibles. Specifically, the two up top are John 9:4 and Ephesians 5:15 +16.

Christ Jesus points us in this direction in Matthew 6:11 and Luke 11:3, teaching us to pray and ask God to --- give us this day our daily bread.

--- For seasoning we can scoop up a handful of a book in the Old Testament that you and I probably haven't spent much time with so far today: Lamentations. Specifically, chapter 22, verses 22 and 23, which remind us that ---
Through the Lord's mercies we are not consumed, because God's compassions fail not. They are new every morning.

--- And the punch line, the kicker, the foundation of all the rest? Same spot in our Bibles, and it's both an Affirmation of Faith and a Prayer of Gratitude at the same time ---
Great is Your faithfulness, O God.

--- Remember Arsenio Hall's late night talk show? One of his regular phrases was, "Let's get busy."

Roll all this together and you get our daily Call to Action.

I invite you to review, apply as needed, rinse, and repeat. And as always, I look forward to hearing from you at any time for any reason.

Yours in Christ,
Joe

The Horticulture Club recently planted flowers and shrubs that were purchased with funds from Dorothy Inman's memorial gifts, as directed by her husband, Bob Inman. Bob also had money given to Union's food pantry, in memory of Dorothy.

Bob is an original member of the Horticulture Club, started in 2005. Our motto is "To beautify the church to the glory of God." There is only one rule for our work, and that is "You can sit down anytime you want!" Come and join us for donuts and coffee in the Krause Room at 8:00 A.M. every Wednesday. We welcome anyone to join us as we work around the grounds of the church.

Ruth Circle Quilt Auction: Ruth circle has hand quilted a bed/sofa drape and donated it for a silent auction to begin on Sunday, June 8th thru 10 am, June 29th. Highest bidder wins. Minimum bid is $50 and due at time of pickup. The quilt will be displayed in the Welcome Center near the elevator. All proceeds go toward OCC. Please be generous in your bid.

The mission of Operation Christmas Child (OCC) is to demonstrate God's love in a tangible way to children in need around the world by partnering with the local church worldwide to share the Good News of Jesus Christ and make disciples of the nations. UWF will be collecting shoeboxes in September as part of our outreach mission to develop followers of Jesus Christ to serve the world. Since its beginning in 1973, OCC has reached more than 232 million children with a shoebox gift and the message of God's love for them. For more information, contact Helen Rinehart at 970-310-3579.
