

The Church Has Left The Building April 11 and 12

The Church Has Left the Building takes place every year the weekend following Easter. It's an opportunity for our church to put our beliefs into action as we serve those in need around us. We have projects available for all ages, interests and skill levels, and while many of them are taking place at LPPC, their impact will be far reaching. Below is a list of the project descriptions followed by a link to sign up for that project. You can also sign up in the Atrium on Sunday mornings.

Project leaders will contact with more details about your work site and the time and location where you will be meeting. If you are serving after church on the 12th, there will be light refreshments available following the service and your project leader will let you know if there is a plan for lunch.

Bonding Squares for NICU Families

LPPC, Rowland Parlor

Sunday, April 12 from 11:00am-2:00pm

We will be using looms to weave 3.5x3.5 "bonding squares" out of yarn. Bonding squares are intended to help NICU families to bond with their babies through smell—one of the most developed senses in premature infants. One bonding square can be worn against the parent's skin, and one can be left with the baby in the isolette. Each day, the squares can be swapped so that the baby has the parent's scent and the parent has the baby's scent. Contact Amybeth Weaver at amw823@yahoo.com if you have any questions.
