“He said to them ‘Come after me,
and I will make you fishers of men.’ ”

3rd Sunday of Ordinary Time

340 South Stott Street | Genoa, IL 60135 | 815-784-2355

From the Desk of Father Trowbridge

Dear Parishioners & Guests,

As we gather for prayer on Sunday we are refreshed by the gift of the Lord's Day. It is tough for us to extract our self from the demands of the world, but if we continue to make an honest effort to keep the Lord's Day sacred and distinct from the rest of the week we will develop a virtue in honoring the third commandment. This effort of cultivating virtue for the sake of the third commandment reminds me of the verse from Joshua 24:14-15, "Now, therefore, fear the LORD and serve him completely and sincerely. [...] As for me and my household, we will serve the LORD."

During the papacy of Pope Francis, he guided the church to focus on the gift of the Word of God on this Third Sunday of Ordinary Time. The Word of God, safeguarded in the Bible and our liturgy, unites us with the truths of God and the good news of Jesus Christ. Sometimes the Word of God just washes over us, it is nice when we hear it but its content does not have a chance to hydrate our soul when it just washes over us. I bet this is what motivated our late holy father Francis, that we may be nourish more deeply by the Word of God!

I'd like to offer three different quotes from the Word of God from today's Mass. The first is from our responsorial psalm. Psalm 27 flows as a beautiful prayer attributed to King David and in its first verse we hear "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?" You can stay with these words only, with comfort in your home on your own or with your family and ask God, "what do I fear?" Reflecting on what our fears may be we can reply, "no need to fear, the Lord is my light and my salvation!" To grab your bible and find Psalm 27 and pray through it line by line and reflecting on its words can be very prayerful also!

The second citation comes from our second reading. St. Paul is writing to the early church in Corinth, a Greek city of about 90,000 inhabitants. Its residents are a diverse mix of professionals and slaves comprised of Greeks, Romans and Jews. Christianity is emerging in this multicultural and primarily pagan city. In this context Paul urges the Christians, "I urge you, brothers and sisters, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree in what you say, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and in the same purpose." Corinth sounds a bit like the world today. We can reflect on the divisions in our Catholic family and ask, "what division am I perpetuating?" With this we can pray, "Lord, help me to identify division and grant me the wisdom and humility to learn Your truth so that I am not an obstacle in our sacred body of believers."

The third point of scriptural reflection comes from our gospel. There are several lines from today that we can pray with but the one that I'd like to share is the invitation that Jesus extends to the apostles, "Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men." What a unique and beautiful invitation. The next sentence is striking: "At once they left their nets and followed Him." Our prayer can draw into this scene reflecting on what a "fisher of men" really is. I was impressed by their response "at once" the apostles responded. No delay. "Lord, may I never delay when you call out to me."

Have a Blessed Sunday!

+ Richest Blessings,

Rev J.A. Trowbridge

From the Desk of Deacon Bill Stankevitz

Winter indeed is a quiet, sterile time. I think that this might be a great time for meditation and prayer. I start by thinking of intentions I want to connect with this prayer. As I start to think about intentions, more and more of them start coming to mind. All of a sudden, I have tons of them running the gamut from the souls in purgatory to big ones of the world all of the way to the individual of family and friends in need. Then I think about thanking God for all of His gifts and identifying all of them isn't a short list either.

Now, should I pray a rosary? Or a chaplet of divine mercy? Or recite familiar prayers? Or pick up a book of prayers written by others? I begin to realize that my meditation about all of this is a prayer itself. It's quiet. I feel so much closer to God than when I started. Where did this all come from? I realize it was the summer of my faith that lives within me. And that makes me happy.

From a poem attributed to Albert Camus - In the midst of winter, I found there was, within me, an invincible summer. And that makes me happy.

I guess this is fitting for this time of year. Look out a window and it is a bleak landscape of empty fields, bare trees, snow covered ground, and grey skies. The birds are out there scrounging for a seed here and there, but there is no joyous birdsong celebrating a time of growth. The occasional squirrels are digging through the snow and trying to remember where they stashed last year's crop of acorns. Look around indoors and the cheery Christmas decorations are all packed away and everything looks bare and plain. The days are short and the floors are drafty. The windows are closed and the silence is pervasive.

Estimados Feligreses e Invitados

El Señor es mi luz y mi salvación, estas son las palabras de nuestro salmo de este domingo.

Cuando oramos juntos, recordamos que cada miembro de la familia de fe debe alzar los ojos de fe, la mente y el corazón para estar en unión con Jesús. Si no hacemos esto, entonces no podremos vivir ni rezar en unidad unos con otros. Cada miembro del Cuerpo de Cristo (la Iglesia) debe tener una fuerte conexión con Jesús, nuestra Cabeza, si se quiere que haya coordinación entre los miembros del cuerpo.

Una persona que aprende un nuevo deporte o habilidad no está coordinada, pero con buena dirección y práctica la memoria muscular y la coordinación se desarrollan y aumentan. Si podemos ver esto con el deporte, entonces apliquemos esto a nuestra segunda lectura de la Misa, donde San Pablo intenta arreglar las fracturas en la comunidad cristiana primitiva.

Se han fracturado porque, siguiendo a Jesús, han formado una lealtad hacia un líder particular y han olvidado a Cristo en el proceso. Hoy en día hacemos esto siguiendo a un sacerdote, o a un diácono, o a un feligrés fiel. Esto provocará división entre diferentes estudios bíblicos, grupos de oración o parroquias. Si nos damos cuenta de esto, debemos detenernos, orar y guiarnos a ti y a quienes más te rodean hacia Jesús y, lo más importante, para que la división no se profundice en nuestra comunidad.

+Bendiciones,
P. Trowbridge
