Order of Worship	Notes	Quotes
Prelude	Introduction:	"The Son of God, the second person of the Trinity, being very and eternal God, of one substance and equal with the Father, did, when the fullness of time had come, take upon Him man's nature, with all the essential properties, and common infirmities of a man, yet without sin; being conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit, in the womb of the virgin Mary, of her substance. So that two whole, perfect, and distinct natures, the Godhead and the manhood, were inseparably joined together in one person, without conversion, composition, or confusion. This person is very god, and very man, yet one Christ, the only Mediator between God and man." - The Westminster Confession of Faith (1647), VIII:2

Illustrating the Incarnation	"The maker of man, he was made man, so that the director of the stars might be a babe at the breast; that bread might be hungry, and the fountain thirsty; that the light might sleep, and the way be weary from a journey; that the truth might be accused by false witnesses, and the judge of the living and the dead be judged by a mortal judge; that justice might be convicted by the unjust, and discipline be scourged with whips; that the cluster of grapes might be crowned with thorns, and the foundation be hung up on a tree; that strength might grow weak, eternal health [might] be wounded, life [might] die." - Augustine of Hippo (354-430), Sermon 191

The Father having begot a Son most blest, And still begetting, (for he ne'r begone) Hath deigned to choose thee by adoption, Co heir to his glory, and Sabbaths endless rest; And as a robbed man, which by search doth find His stol'n stuff sold, must lose or buy it again; The Son of glory came down, and was slain, Us whom he had made, and Satan stolne, to unbind. 'Twas much, that man was made like God before, But, that God should be made like man, much more." - John Donne (1572-1631), Holy Sonnet XV: "Wilt Thou Love God?"
