Notes

Quotes

"Is this the Son of God? Can he forgive sins? Will he demonstrate it by raising the man? The answers are yes, yes, and yes. Jesus is Savior and king, come with authority and power. Everyone else is responding to what Jesus did, to what God revealed that day. To this day, everyone must respond to what Jesus revealed. Jesus has the authority to forgive sins. Indeed, he is the One who forgives sins. In the end, we find forgiveness in him, or we will not find it at all."

- Dan Doriani, Matthew

"Note in this regard, my brothers, that God does not inquire into the wants of those who are deliriously ill. He does not wait to see the faith of the ignorant or probe the senseless wishes of the sick. Yet he does not refuse to help the faith of another, so that by grace alone he confers whatever is proper of the divine will. In fact, my brothers, when does a doctor ever inquire into or examine the wishes of those who are ailing, for a patient is prone to be of a contrary mind in his wishes and demands?"

- Peter Chrysologus (380-450) Sermons 50.4

"In short, we need to be forgiven. That's the only way for our discontent to be healed. It will take more than a miracle worker or a divine genie - it will take a Savior. Jesus knows that to be our Savior he is going to have to die. And we will discover that in the process of dealing with what we thought were our deepest wishes, Jesus has revealed an even deeper, truer one beneath - and it is for Jesus himself. He will not just have granted that true deepest wish, he will have fulfilled it. Jesus is not going to play the rotten practical joke of giving you your deepest wish- until he has shown you that it was for him all along."

- Tim Keller (1950-2023), King's Cross
