

Fall Semester 2026 Course Descriptions

CORE CLASSES

Essential Beliefs: Have you ever wondered why we believe what we believe as Christians? Do you struggle to articulate your faith and how to explain your beliefs to someone easily? This class is designed to introduce to you the fundamental beliefs of being a Christ follower. The foundational beliefs introduced in this class are based on Crosspoint City Church doctrinal statements. Our hope is that this class will give you a foundation to grow in your understanding of these beliefs and understand how they practically apply to our lives as Christ followers.

Rooted: Rooted takes people on a 10-week journey of learning how to know and follow Jesus. Students will learn foundational Christian beliefs and practice the 7 rhythms of discipleship observed in Acts 2 throughout their time together to challenge and inspire one another to step beyond their comfort zone as they follow Jesus. This class is a great opportunity for new believers to grow in their walk with Christ.

BIBLICAL STUDIES:

Old Testament Studies: The foundational way we get to know God is by reading the words He has given to us. This becomes the basis for developing a deep relationship with Him. He has given us sixty-six books to read and our focus, in this class, will be on the first thirty-nine books, collected together as the Old Testament. The Old Testament is important to help us understand who God is, our need for Christ, and give us the necessary background for understanding the New Testament and biblical prophecies.

Greek Word Studies: The New Testament was written in Koine Greek, which was the common language of the Roman Empire. This allowed the New Testament to spread throughout the empire. We are privileged to have the Bible translated into English and we have many versions to choose from. At the same time, we must recognize there is always the challenge of translating one language to another and still maintain the essential meaning of the original language.

This class will focus on the vocabulary of the Greek New Testament. The goal is to gain an understanding of Greek words that are difficult to capture their meaning by a word-to-word translation. This class will introduce the student to the tools for capturing that meaning.

THEOLOGICAL STUDIES

Theology 101: This is the first of four courses in a general survey of Bible doctrine designed to introduce the student to the major areas of systematic theology. This course presents the following areas of doctrine: Bibliology and Theology Proper.

Theology 103: This is the third of four courses in a general survey of Bible doctrine designed to introduce the student to the major areas of systematic theology. This course presents the following areas of doctrine: the doctrines of the person and work of the Holy Spirit (Pneumatology), the doctrines concerning angels and demons (Angelology), and the doctrines pertaining to man and sin (Anthropology and Hamartiology).

LIFE & ELECTIVE

Early Church History: This course explores the first few centuries of the Christian church, tracing its growth from a small group of disciples in the Roman Empire to a global faith movement. Students will study key figures, events, and theological developments, including the Apostolic Fathers, early church councils, persecution and martyrdom, the spread of the gospel, and the formation of Christian doctrine. The class will highlight how the courage, faith, and mission of the early believers shaped the church we know today.

Reformation – Modern Church History: Church History III traces Christianity from the late medieval world around 1500 to the threshold of the nineteenth century. The course centers on the causes, course, and consequences of the Protestant Reformation while giving equal attention to Catholic reform, ordinary Christian life, confessional conflict, new denominations, revival, and global mission. The narrative begins with a church already seeking reform and ends with William Carey and the voluntary missionary society model that helped open the modern missionary era.

How to Study the Bible: This six-week course provides a comprehensive introduction to the inspiration, authority, preservation, transmission, interpretation, and practical study of the Bible. Through biblical instruction, historical study, theological reflection, and practical application, students will learn how God has revealed Himself through Scripture and how faithful believers have understood and proclaimed His Word throughout the history of the Church.

This course is intended to move students beyond simply reading the Bible toward understanding it faithfully, applying it consistently, and teaching it responsibly.

Better Together: This course will provide participants with information and assistance in three areas that are essential to marriage and interpersonal relationships: knowledge base, skill set, and emotional wellness/spiritual maturity. This will be accomplished through lectures, class discussions, skill workshops, and homework. The homework will include review of the presented material and application of the content in everyday life. The course was developed based on a Biblical worldview and is supported by research-based marriage and relationship education.

Bridges out of Poverty: This is a meaningful, eye-opening class that helps people who aren't living in poverty better understand the daily challenges and hidden rules that shape others' economic realities. It offers tools, clear insights, and new ways of thinking making it easier to communicate with, support, and empower individuals working to build stability and long-term change.

The Emotionally and Spiritually Healthy Woman: God's desire is to bless each believer with an abundant life, dwelling richly in an intimate, loving relationship with Him through His Son, Jesus Christ. This course offers a journey that will equip the participant with concepts and tools to gain insight and understanding of how personality and temperament, the communication process, one's image of God, unhealthy relationships, and boundaries all contribute to or impede the journey to emotional and spiritual health.

Alpha: This Alpha Course is an introductory exploration of the Christian faith designed for those who are curious, seeking answers, new to Christianity, or wanting a refresher on the basics. Over a series of interactive sessions, Alpha creates a relaxed, open, and welcoming environment where participants can discuss life's big questions and explore who Jesus is, why He matters, and how faith impacts everyday life.
