Mark Part 2: The Good News

If you've been around church for any period of time, you have probably heard of "the good news". Do you ever struggle to believe that God has good plans for your life? Do you sometimes think that God might not love you? Most of us have times where we wonder if "the good news" is truly that good. The "good news" of His Kingdom isn't just some abstract, distant promise but a tangible, present reality that affects everything—our relationships, our struggles, and our purpose.

In the first 8 chapters of The Gospel of Mark, Jesus moves with urgency – healing the sick, casting out demons, and teaching with unparalleled authority. And everywhere He goes, He announces one central message: "The kingdom of God has come near. Repent and believe the good news!" But Jesus didn't just proclaim this message- He demonstrated it as well. Everywhere Jesus went, He showed people who He is, and how that is good news for all of humanity. Jesus continues to show us over and over the reasons why we would want to follow a man like Him. In "The Gospel of Mark: The Good News," we will explore the radical way Jesus reveals Himself and calls us to respond to the good news of His Kingdom. The good news goes so far beyond salvation – it's an invitation to transform our lives, day in and day out. What good news is Jesus inviting you to believe?

Small Group Guidelines

This is a Safe Group

Confidentiality is key—what is said in the group stays in the group. Be aware of how you are affecting the environment with your words, actions, and non-verbal communication. This needs to be a place where people feel comfortable opening up and sharing.

No Crosstalk

Be considerate of others as they are sharing. No side conversations, phone time, texting etc.

Listen

Let's value one another by listening to what is being shared. Allow a pause after someone shares to allow them to finish and others to consider what was said. Eye contact and body posture play key roles in creating a positive or negative group environment.

No Rescuing or Fixing

We are not here to fix each other; Jesus does that part. Avoid the tendency to rescue when someone is struggling to get the words out or shares a struggle or conviction.

Use "I" Statements

It's easy to talk about the issues of others, or respond with "we," "us," or "the church," but for us to grow as disciples and build relationships, we want to use "I" statements.

Don't Over-Talk

We want to create time for all members of the group to participate in the discussion. Be careful not to always be the first responder or regularly give long responses.

Fight for Relationship

It's not if conflict or hurt feelings will happen, but when. We commit to fight for relationship with each other. Go to the person and share your struggle or seek wise advice if you are not sure how to handle the conflict.

Background: This week we see people come to Jesus from all directions — His disciples returning from ministry, the crowds running to find Him, and the religious leaders always lingering nearby. Each group came with different motives, expectations, and needs. This passage invites us to pause and ask a deeply personal question: Why do you come to Jesus? Do you come looking for rest, for answers, for healing, for help? Are you seeking Him with faith — or with conditions? Whether we feel like apostles, skeptics, or part of the crowd, Jesus meets each of us with compassion and purpose.

Read: Mark 6:30-44

Discovery Questions:

What do we learn about God in this passage?

What do we learn about what it means to be a follower of Christ in this passage?

What do you think the Holy Spirit might be teaching you personally through this passage?

Is there anything God is leading you to do after reading this passage?

Digging Deeper:

“Why do you come to Jesus?” — How would you answer that today? Has your answer changed over time?

Have you ever felt Jesus calling you to come away and rest with Him? What makes it hard for you to slow down and be with Him?

What are some possible reasons the crowd ran to meet Jesus? What do you think drew them to Him?

Jesus responded to the crowd not with frustration but with compassion. How does this challenge or encourage your view of Jesus?

End this time with a prayer.

Heavenly Father, it seems like this world is always chasing us down, or like there is never enough to meet our needs. But you, God, call us to find rest in You, and You always give us more than enough. When all around us is chaos, remind us of Christ's peace. Remind us why we came to Jesus and why we still come to You, Lord. You are all we need. In Jesus' name, Amen.
