Connecting the Dots

From the beginning of the Bible, we can see that God provides for His human family. God provides food, purpose, and the perfect place for man and woman to live with one another and with Him. God also provided His Word by speaking to man. After man brought death and destruction into the world by disobeying God, God begins the work of restoring mankind and the world to its original condition. The work is called redemption. Redemption's work was accomplished by Jesus' death on the cross. When Jesus returns, He will remake His world into the perfect place. Jesus will provide for all our needs, and He will dwell with us as His people.
