Matthew 7:21-29

1. Where might our lives—personally or as a church—appear strong on the surface, yet lack a true foundation in Christ?
2. Are we, as individuals and as a community, merely hearing Jesus’s words, or actively building on them through shared trust and obedience?
3. In what areas is Jesus calling me, and us, to move from admiration to surrender?
4. How have recent “storms” revealed what we are truly relying on, both in our personal lives and in our life together?
5. What is one concrete step I can take this week to build more firmly on Jesus as the solid foundation of my life? What is one such step we can take together as a church?
