

Dealing with Anger

Lord, your Word says if I love you and am full of your words, I will have great peace, and nothing shall offend me. Well, we both know I'm pretty offended right now. Either I'm sadly lacking in your words, or my pride is getting mixed up in this. Either way, I'm at fault here. Your Word says pride goes before destruction, and a haughty spirit goes right before a fall. Father, I'm in enough trouble without destruction and a fall coming into my life. Forgive me for holding on to such feelings. Lord, I surrender this whole thing to you right now.
